Dr. GOWNEY HUNTER ought to read his political almanac with a little more care. Next thing we know he will be writing to our friend John Bracken or Bro. Worsley for funds to help "break the solid South" and establish Republican rule in Kentucky.

The Republicans of Kentucky declare that they are unalterably opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver. Perhaps it is not too much to say that Dr. Hunter thinks the great State of Nebraska is a good place to help the Republicans buy the State office in Kentucky.

Born Mr. A. S. Worsley and Mr. John Bracken made conservative, temperance speeches at the court house Saturday. There was waiting in both speeches much of the same old, old story, and the latter part of the talk of the colleagues of these gentlemen.

GENERAL SIMON B. BUCKNER is one of the grand old men who is always given a welcome to Ohio county. He will speak at the court house here at 2 o'clock on the 29th of this month, and we predict that a large number of our citizens will be on hand to hear him.

The Republican party if returned to power in this country will put back the things our farmers have to buy to the prices prevailing before the war. They will not let the federal election laws. They have no power on earth to increase the price of what our people have to sell because we must sell in competition with the world. It is the promise of the Republican party inviting to Ohio county farmers.

The men on both sides and all of the political contest now on in Kentucky can learn a most valuable lesson from the sensible suggestion of the Editorial in our another column. So much nonsense has been indulged in upon the theme of the subsidized press by men who are ordinarily too sensible to lead us to expect such foolery from them, that we commend to our readers a study of the correct and sensible suggestions of the News.

The Democratic Convention of Muhlenberg last week instructed for Hon. T. Smith, of this place, for the State Senate. This is a menace which Dr. A. D. James may regard with some interest, for if he does consent to enter the lists for the place, the wily Doctor will find a woman worthy his steel. With T. Smith as their candidate the Democrats can redeem this district and have a Democratic representative in the upper House of the next Legislature.

The friends of Major W. R. Kinney, who spent his boyhood here and who is known to many of our older citizens, will be glad of another opportunity to meet him and to hear again his matchless eloquence with which he used to stir the hearts of his hearers in this part of Kentucky. Major Kinney has scarcely an equal as an orator in the State and the fact that he was born and reared in this county and has achieved so much success in his private and public career, will insure him a great crowd here on the 29th inst.

Among the number of splendid gentlemen who have been in attendance at this term of court no one is more popular here than Hon. Joe Noe, the efficient State Senator from our neighboring district. Dr. Noe was for two terms Prosecuting Attorney for this district and it never had a more conscientious or able official. He is a noble hearted, generous, chivalric gentleman, true to his friends and loyal and faithful to every trust his people could be in his keeping. He fore his publication and relied upon information which he believed to be entirely correct but which transpires was an error—not a "damned malicious lie," as the worthy County Judge would have it. He simply one of those slight errors of statement which sometimes find their way into every newspaper and which when appearing in THE HERALD, we always hasten to correct. This Herald would do no more than to give a bitter and malignant partisan, a wrong, and nothing in its past history or present standing can be found to justify the precipitate outburst which we do not mean to give a crack on the question of the appointment of election officers. If by any error of fact we place any man in a worse light than the real fact justify, he can always be set right by simply stating to the facts as they are. This course is highly preferable to the carrying up of so much color in this hot weather, and we commend it to whom this matter may concern.

A BODILESS FAUX PAS.
The evils which exist in the Government of this country today are the outgrowth of thirty years of the worst misrule ever tolerated by free citizens. It has always been the object of the Republican party to retain the offices at any cost. If the offices were to be had for the taking they would be, but if not, then whatever the price, the promise or the bribe, they would be had for the taking.

OVER IN DAVIES.
The Democrats of Davies county have not yet concluded to send a delegate to the Legislature from the country district, which is separated from the city of Owensboro and given a representative of the State. Three gentlemen, Messrs. W. A. Robertson, are announced candidates for the place. Strong effort is being made to induce Mr. George V. Triplett, editor of the Owensboro Sunday Post, to enter the contest. Referring to the matter, Mr. Triplett says in his paper:

A number of influential Democrats from various parts of the county have been solicited to enter the contest, but he has replied that instead of seeking the nomination for the Legislature, he would rather be a member of the Legislature. A visit to the Legislature is one of the most important steps in the career of a public man. It is not only a chance to be seen and heard, but it is a chance to be seen and heard in a way that no other man can be. It is a chance to be seen and heard in a way that no other man can be.

It must be said to the lasting credit of Kentuckians that they have thus far refused to allow to this aggregation of dealers in electioneering, littleness and inferiority, which has too often characterized the talk of the colleagues of these gentlemen.

It appears, however, that the Republicans have been led to believe that a change has come over the spirit of this people and that this year the voters of Kentucky are for the people. It is a change that has come over the spirit of this people and that this year the voters of Kentucky are for the people.

It is a change that has come over the spirit of this people and that this year the voters of Kentucky are for the people. It is a change that has come over the spirit of this people and that this year the voters of Kentucky are for the people.

It is a change that has come over the spirit of this people and that this year the voters of Kentucky are for the people. It is a change that has come over the spirit of this people and that this year the voters of Kentucky are for the people.

A $1000 VERDICT.
The fact that an injured farmer has just recovered in the circuit court a verdict of $1000 against the driver of a stage coach, is a good thing. It shows that the law is on the side of the injured party and that the courts are doing their duty.

It is a good thing that the law is on the side of the injured party and that the courts are doing their duty. It is a good thing that the law is on the side of the injured party and that the courts are doing their duty.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES.
[His advantage.]
The two exchanges which are the most popular in this part of the State are the Weekly Herald and the Weekly Post. Both are well conducted and both are well read.

When Congress a few years since, agreed to refund to the States the sum of the income tax paid by the general Government, the amount due Kentucky was $800,000 and a third of the sum to the State of Tennessee. The Governor of that State appointed a commission to go to Washington and collect the $800,000. This commission was composed of three men, one of whom was a member of the Kentucky State Legislature.

It is to be regretted that Hartford's good name should be marred by the incident that transpired at the Madison dist church Sunday night. Some young fellows were seen on mischief than enjoying the sermon, acting in a most disgraceful manner. The services were disturbed to such an extent that Bro. Pate, after once rebuking them, was compelled to discontinue his sermon before finishing.

Mr. J. H. B. Carson and Miss Annie Dean, of this place, surprised their friends here Monday by dropping into the post office an invitation from

G. J. Dean, to be present on the 27th inst. at the marriage of his daughter Annie to Mr. Henry Carson. The young people had been intimate friends but had not carefully considered their matrimonial intentions that not even their best friends were into the

The marriage, however, proved to be as most pleasant one, for there have never been in Hartford two young people who were more universally popular. Mr. Carson is the son of the well known firm of Carson & Co., general merchants here, and enjoys and fully the confidence and esteem of the business and social community.

Miss Dean is the youngest daughter of Rev. G. J. Dean and is one of the loveliest and most cultivated young women ever reared in Hartford. The wedding will be very quiet, only a few friends having been invited, and the young people will leave at once for an extended visit to Cincinnati and the Eastern cities.

Owing to an unavoidable accident, Prof. J. H. Connor, of Indiana, has resigned his position as Vice President and teacher in the Beaver Dam Institute. Prof. John B.
